the Dardanelles to all warships except those of Turkey and giving Turkey the right to fortify the straits was advocated by Foreign Minister Tchitcherine of Russia at today's meeting of the conference called to discuss the straits.

The preliminary exposition of the question by the representatives of the great powers had not been completed when the meeting was adjourned.

The American delegation, included Richard Washburn Child, Joseph C. Grew, Rear Admiral Bristol and Secretaries Balin and Amory.

Tchitcherlin insisted that Turkish sovereignty could be guaranteed only by the presence of Turkish warships in the straits, while the warships of other powers should be prohibited from entering them.

He contended also that Turkey should have authority to fortify the straits as a means of safeguarding her independence, and particularly for the protection of her capital, Constantinople.

TWO KILLED, TEN HURT IN SUNDAY AUTO COLLISIONS

Myrtle Moffitt, 22, Oakland
Girl, Victim When Car Hits Trolley.

Two are dead today and ten persons are suffering from injuries as a result of automobile accidents in the bay region during the week-end.

DEAD.
When the automobile in which she was riding with Mansfield Joy Jr., of Larkspur, crashed into a street car at Parker avenue and Geary street, San Francisco, Miss Myrtle Moffitt, 22, of Oakland, was instantly killed.

Ira M. Ware, motorman of the street car, was arrested on a formal charge of manslaughter and released on bail of $50. Joy was arrested on a technical charge of reckless driving, and also was released on bail.

According to Joy, who is the son of M. J. Joy of the San Francisco police department, and a salesman, he had just put his sister on a ferry for Oakland, and while waiting on the arrival of another ferry, went for a ride with Miss Moffitt. He followed the street car west on Geary street when it suddenly turned. In order to avoid crashing head on into another machine, he swerved into the street car.

Miss Moffitt was thrown through the windshield. She is the niece of the manager of a San Francisco detective agency, and resides at 422 East Thirtieth street, Oakland.

Walter A. Muller, Jr., with offices at 1174 Phelan building, San Francisco, was instantly killed on the highway south of Healdsburg, yesterday when his automobile overturned in a collision with two other machines. Muller was driving the car, and was pinned beneath the wreckage. Mrs. Muller, who was riding with him, sustained minor injuries.

The other two machines which figured in the smashup were owned by E. Nelson of San Francisco and Augustus Lizzari of Healdsburg. They were unhurt.

U. S. Doughboys To Give Germans Merry Christmas

COBLENZ, Dec. 4.—(By The Associated Press.)—The American doughboys in the Rhineland are making up a purse of many millions of marks with which to give to German youngsters a real Christmas.

The Rhineland post of Veterans of Foreign Wars started the purse with 300,000 marks and every soldier in the American forces is giving at least the equivalent of one dollar, which is more than 5,000 marks. Top sergeants are entrusted with the task of seeing that none of the soldiers forget to contribute.

about the body and lacerations of the face, when she was thrown from the automobile of H. O'Hara, 1423 Myrtle street, at Ninety-sixth avenue and Foothill boulevard, last night. According to O'Hara, he made the turn at a high rate of speed, and Mrs. Harrah was hurled from the machine.

When the automobile in which they were riding collided with a machine without lights, William Martin of Glenwood and George Hummel were injured. Martin received cuts and bruises and Hummel suffered a fractured arm and shoulder.

George Cook of Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Rathbun are suffering from cuts and bruises as a result of accidents near Santa Cruz yesterday.

The automobile driven by Cook rolled down a 40-foot embankment, and Rathbun's car overturned in a collision.

Daniel Moynihan, 111-A Twelfth street, San Francisco, was seriously injured when he was struck by a machine driven by Beverly Washburn, 89 Tenth avenue, at Twelfth avenue and California streets, that city.

CAR STRIKES GIRL.
Dashing in front of a street car, only to be struck by an automobile yesterday noon, Ethel Moore, 2 years old, 2012 Chestnut street, was injured at Twenty-first street and San Pablo avenue.

Following an accident early yesterday morning in which Mrs. E. A. Davis, 1531 East Twenty-fourth street, was injured, Richard Doranauze is being held in the city prison and may be charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Mrs. Davis' auto was struck by Doranauze's machine at East Twelfth street and Twenty-first avenue. She received cuts and bruises and was taken to the Emergency hospital, where she demanded the man's arrest.

Ernest Walk, Humboldt apartments, Richmond, received severe cuts and bruises when the automobile in which he was riding with J. P. Larson, 1120 Clinton avenue, Richmond, collided with another.

PUBLIC MAC CEN AUCTION TO MARK DRIVE-OPENING

Campaign For First Unit of Preventorium Will Begin With Luncheon.

Christmas Seals will be auctioned to the guests who will attend the inaugural luncheon of the annual Christmas Seal Sale under the auspices of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association tomorrow at Hotel Oakland. Max Horvinski, assisted by Ben Woolner and J. J. Rosborough, will act as auctioneers. They hope to collect a substantial volunteer fund for the building of the first unit at Del Valle Farm, the Livermore preventorium for children showing a tendency toward the disease, to which the profits of the campaign will be appropriated.

Stepping through a gigantic Christmas Seal, Mrs. Walter Leimert has conceived a new dance for the entertainment of the large company expected to manifest their interest in the health of the community child by being present at the program which is a signal that several hundred workers will begin distribution of 6,000,000 penny stickers in Alameda county. Through the luncheon hour the Franklina Theater Orchestra will play selections from favorite operas.

Dr. Ray Lynette, Wilbur, president of the American Medical Association and head of Stanford University, will be the principal speaker of the day.

Arrangements for increased accommodations for the guests who are planning to attend the brilliant function has led the officers of the County Tuberculosis Association to announce that reservations may be made up to 10 a. m. tomorrow morning. Place may be reserved by telephone to the headquarters in the Ritz Hotel.

Mrs. Wallace M. Alexander, county campaign chairman for the holiday drive will be chairman of program. Mrs. Annie Florence Brown is president of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association.

Wu Warned to Free Captive Foreigners
TOKYO, Dec. 4.—(By The Associated Press.)—General Wu Peifu, the military power of North China, was told yesterday that he is equally responsible with the Chinese government for the safety and release of a number of American and other foreign missionaries, who were kidnapped by a bandit army of 30,000 in Honan province on November 16.

The warning came from Peking diplomatic representatives of America, Great Britain, France, Italy and Sweden, who telegraphed to Wu Peifu through the Chinese foreign office and pointed out also that the governor of Honan province and other high officials are responsible for the safety of missionaries kidnapped.

The first thing is to let Russia and France have money. And the second thing, to see that Russia has munitions, of which they are short—depending largely, too largely, upon Japan. I shouldn't be surprised if we would operate the Russian railroads. And ships, ships! How we do need ships, and there are none in the world. Ships to feed England and to make the Russian machine work. Hindenburg is to turn next toward Petrograd—he is only three hundred miles away now. I fear he will succeed. But that does not mean the conquest of Russia! The lovable, kindly Russians are not to be conquered—and it makes me rejoice that we are to be with them.

All sides need airplanes—for the war that is perhaps the greatest of all needs; and there Germany is strongest.

This is the program as far as we have gone: Navy, to make a line across the sea and hunt submarines; Army, one million at once, and as many more as necessary as soon as they can be got ready. Financed by income taxes largely. Men and capital both drafted.

Favored Taking German Ships
Washington, April 12, 1917.

The great need of France at this moment is to get ships to carry the supplies across the water. It is a secret, but a fact, that France has 600,000 tons of freight in New York and other harbors waiting to ship. I am in favor of taking all the German ships under requisition, paying for their use eventually, but this is a matter of months. Immediately, I think we should take all the coastwise ships, or the larger portion of them. The navy colliers and army transports can be put into service.

We are to have a meeting of the council of national defense today, and I am going to take this matter up. I have been pushing on it for several weeks. As to the purchasing of supplies, I think we ought to protect the allies, especially Russia, but, of course, we cannot touch their present contracts.

after the meeting. McAdoo will—within a year, I believe. I tried to smooth them down by recalling our past experiences with the President. We have had to push, and push, and push, to get him to take any forward step—the trade commission, the tariff commission. He comes out right but he is slower than a glacier—and things are mighty disagreeable, whenever anything has to be done.

Now he is being abused by the Republicans for being slow, and this will probably help a bit, though it may make him more obstinate. He wants no extra session, and the Republicans fear that he will submit to anything in the way of indignity or national humiliation without "getting back," so they are standing for an extra session. The President believes, I think, that the munitions makers are back of the Republican plan. But I doubt this. They simply want to have a "say"; and the President wants to be alone and unbothered. He probably would not call cabinet meetings if Congress adjourned. Then I would go to Honolulu, where the land problem vexes.

I don't know whether the President is an internationalist or a pacifist, he seems to be very mildly national—his patriotism is covered over with a film of philosophic humanitarianism, that certainly doesn't make for "punch" at such a time as this.

Links Penrose, Lodge and La Follette

Washington, March 6 (1917)
Well, the new administration is launched—smoothly but not on a smooth sea. The old Congress went out in disgrace, talking to death a bill to enable the President to protect Americans on the seas. The reactionaries and the progressives combined—Penrose and La Follette joined hands to stop all legislation, so that the government is without money to carry on its work.

It is unjust to charge the whole thing on the La Follette group; they served to do the trick which the whole Republican machine wished done. For the Penrose, Lodge people would not let any bills through and were glad to get La Follette's help. The Democrats fought and died—because there was no "previous question" in the Senate rules.

The weather changed for inauguration—Wilson luck—and the event went off without accident. Today, we had expected a meeting of the cabinet to determine what we should do in the absence of legislation, but that has gone over—I expect to give the attorney-general a chance to draft an opinion on the armed ship matter. I am for prompt action—putting the guns on the ships and conveying, if necessary.

"President Hasn't Shown Us a Line"

Washington, April 1, 1917.
The cabinet is at last a unit. We can stand Germany's insolence and murderous policy no longer. Burleson, Gregory, Daniels and Wilson were the last to come over.

The meetings of the cabinet lately have been nothing less than councils of war. The die is cast—and yet no one has seen the message. The President hasn't shown us a line. He seems to think that in war the Pacific coast will not be strongly with him. They don't want war to be sure—no one does. But they will not suffer further humiliation. I sent west for some telegrams telling of the local feeling in different states and all said: "Do as the President says." Yet none came back that spoke as if they felt that we had been outraged or that it was necessary for humanity that Germany be brought to a democracy. There is little pride or sense of national dignity in most of our politicians.

The council of national defense is getting ready. Yesterday proposed a resolution, which was adopted, that our contracts for ships, munitions and supplies be made upon the basis of a three-years' program. We may win in two years. If we had the nerve to raise five million men at once we could end it in six months.

The first thing is to let Russia and France have money. And the second thing, to see that Russia has munitions, of which they are short—depending largely, too largely, upon Japan. I shouldn't be surprised if we would operate the Russian railroads. And ships, ships! How we do need ships, and there are none in the world. Ships to feed England and to make the Russian machine work. Hindenburg is to turn next toward Petrograd—he is only three hundred miles away now. I fear he will succeed. But that does not mean the conquest of Russia! The lovable, kindly Russians are not to be conquered—and it makes me rejoice that we are to be with them.

bankrupt condition China will give Japan treasury notes maturing in fifteen years and bearing interest at 6 per cent. Japanese officials say their government has made a great concession, as it is declared the actual value of the property is 27,000,000 yen ($13,500,000).

The sum of 11,000,000 yen ($5,500,000) has been deducted from the actual value of the properties in order to expedite the fulfillment of the Washington treaty and at the same time to lessen the burden of debt overhanging Shantung.

An agreement was reached concerning the coal mines, which are to be operated by a joint Japanese-Chinese corporation.

Japan's first valuation of the coal mines has been reduced from ten million to five million yen. Japan is to be paid for the mines out of the profits when the profits exceed 8 per cent.

The final disposition of the Shantung railway will be completed soon. Japan has fixed a valuation on the property of 45,000,000 yen ($22,500,000), payable in Chinese treasury notes. China insists the valuation should not exceed 35,000,000 yen ($17,500,000).

Taxpayers Must Get Under Wire
Before 6:00 p. m.

Today is the last day for tax collections. Citizens who do not pay their taxes by 6 p. m. today, make themselves liable to the 15 per cent fine assessed by law.

Incidentally, it is hoped by city hall officials that today is the last day when taxes will be collected on the ninth floor of the city hall. The practice has been established since the big municipal building was constructed, but the city has grown so large and its taxpayers so numerous that the four city hall elevators are unable to accommodate the enormous crowds.

As a result of a protest by Tax Collector and Treasurer Bert Anderson, members of the city council are now considering ways to change the ninth-floor procedure and place the tax offices where citizens can reach them easier.

Informal statements by members of the council intimate that both the G. A. R. hall and the Associated Charities rooms on the first floor of the city hall could well be utilized by the tax collector, whose vaults could be used for storing the money on the ninth floor, as at present.

It is asserted by all the authorities that the moving of the city treasurer's office to the first floor, with all the treasury vaults, would mean a staggering cost to the city. The only other way, according to the officials, is to establish a temporary collection office on the first floor during the tax time, twice a year.

Fortune Spent on McCormick Gland Operation

The Chicago surgeon who operated on Harold F. McCormick, Chicago multi-millionaire, is reputed to have received as high as $100,000 for his few minutes of surgical skill. At the recent medical convention in Chicago, Dr. Roy Upham, President of the Homeopathic Institute of America, claimed that better results could have been obtained by having the patient eat glands. Dr. Upham explained that the glands of young and healthy animals can be prepared so that they can be taken by mouth like any other remedy.

Such a preparation is now obtainable in the form of Glandogen, a compound of the vital glands of young and healthy animals conveniently prepared in tablet form. Glandogen is procurable at the Oakland Pharmacy, 1200 Broadway, Corner Drug Store, Fruitvale and 14th St. and Federal Drug Co., Federal Bldg., in Oakland; at Bell Pharmacy, Alameda, and Reid's Pharmacy, Berkeley. Mrs. Mabel Nichols Claims She Had Been Prisoner of Moonshiner.

BEND, Ore., Dec. 4.—Claiming that she fired in self-defense following a quarrel, Mrs. Mabel Nichols, confessed slayer of Robert Greer, alleged moonshiner, faced a coroner's jury here today.

Authorities found Greer's body in a lonely cabin at Summit station, near here, yesterday, with a bullet hole through the head. The woman confessed to killing Greer, adding that he had been drinking heavily, and that she had taken a few drinks.

"My baby, my baby, don't let her know of this," she moaned in a semi-hysterical condition, when interviewed.

She begged that no mention be made of her relatives, fearing that they refuse to aid her. Her husband will attend the inquest today.

His application will be considered Saturday by the State Board of Prison Directors. Gallur was employed in a local music store at one time. The crime for which he is now doing time was the killing of August Hotchkiss, a money lender, in July, 1915.

The shooting occurred in Gallur's home at Fruitvale. According to evidence brought out in the trial, Gallur and Hotchkiss quarreled over interest on money that was shot and killed. Gallur was tried in the Alameda county courts. He was convicted of second degree murder and was sent to San Quentin for life.

When Gallur entered the prison there was no band there. During his seven years there he has organized and directed a band which, under his charge has developed into an excellent musical organization.

Besides attending to his duties as bandmaster, Gallur, who is a Spaniard, has endeavored all out-going and incoming mail written in Spanish. Formerly it was necessary to pay a man $125 a month to do this work, but Gallur has been doing it free of charge. Thousands of Alameda county and San Francisco men and women of prominence are said to have signed petitions to the State Board of Prison Directors asking for parole for Gallur.

Wife Had Too Many Mates, Says Sailor

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—The sailor or wife in every port has a parallel in the girl who has a man on every ship.

This was the claim today of Benjamin S. Feigley, sailor, who asked divorce because, he said, she posed as the wife of one Bill Toom while Feigley was away at sea.

BLUE BIRD BUREAU OF THE TRIBUNE

This is the time of year when so many mothers by many artful devices get close to the heart of their children to find what it is that would most please them at Christmas time. Then when she gets them to say what it is, she cajoles and threatens them into good behavior by warning that if they are not good little children Santa Claus will forget to bring that wonderfully dressed doll or that magic lantern. It is the time of expectation and hope for such children. But there are mothers who by artifice stave off their offspring's questions of Santa Claus because every wish there expressed is a stab at heart. There is, she knows, a good chance of the wish being unfulfilled unless someone comes to her aid. With the very bare necessities of life lacking there is no money for such things as toys, candies and good things to eat.

Goodfellows, you can appreciate the position of a mother or a father who is besieged each day by his eager offspring with questions of what Santa is going to bring them on Christmas. Faced with a bare board and no hope their position is one of despair.

Therefore, Goodfellows, won't you resolve to chase the gloom from at least one home and share your better fortune with those who have not fared so well?

The Blue Bird Bureau of the TRIBUNE will act as your intermediary if you will send your check, or send in a Goodfellows' blank, or otherwise offer to alleviate the distress of the unfortunate.

The stack of letters pleading for aid is mounting higher each day.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. A Real Christmas Gift!
—the best thing I've seen for my wife—

"Now she won't have to rush home early to get dinner"

Experts now agree that the greatest need of woman is more time.

You can give your wife more time—two hours per day to her life—by presenting her with a Westgate Cooking Cabinet.

It will enable her to get entirely away from the drudgery of cooking. She can put her dinner on in the morning, set an alarm and then forget it entirely until time to serve it.

The Westgate cooks the entire meal automatically, perfectly, deliciously, and it pays for itself in food saved because it eliminates shrinkage, which often amounts to 35% in ordinary methods of cooking.

It gives her every afternoon off—365 days a year—and will give you better cooked and better tasting food.

You can get it for a small down payment, and you will save enough on food bills to meet the small monthly payments. It is the solution of your Christmas problem.

FORMER NAKI AND WOMAN HELD AS HUSBAND'S SLAYER

Mrs. Grace Baratti Asserts
That He Shot Himself;
Police Say Impossible.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Hearing of Mrs. Grace Baratti on a charge of alleged murder as a result of the fatal shooting of her husband, Harry Baratti, musician, was continued 24 hours in police court today. Mrs. Baratti appeared in court to have read to her the formal charge of murder, which was issued on a complaint sworn to by the police.

Continuance was granted pending further investigation.

Mrs. Baratti continued today to insist her husband committed suicide. She had lost none of her composure and nonchalance and listened without show of interest while her counsel, J. P. Zindars, sparred for an early preliminary hearing.

The prosecution asked that the case go over to December 27, which would be some time after the coroner's inquest. Zindars managed to have the case set for December 22.

Investigations by the police have disclosed that Mrs. Baratti has been a prominent figure in Bohemian life of San Francisco, and that she formerly was noted as a model in art circles.

FORMER OAKLAND GIRL.

Mrs. Baratti, who is a former Oakland girl, refused to discuss her past career with the police. She has been known variously under the names of Mrs. Grace Cheney, Mrs. Harry Mellett and Mrs. Grace Christy, the police say. Baratti also was known under the name of Harry P. Mellett.

A photograph of George Sterling, the poet, was found in the apartment among many other photographs. It was a picture of an intimate nature, written to Mrs. Baratti and signed by "Van." The letter asked that she would "drop me a line in Stockton," and was written last Tuesday.

Sterling said that he had known Mrs. Baratti as Grace Cheney, that she had lived for many years in Shanghai, China, and had been married there two or three times. He added that she was the daughter of a former Oakland clergyman, and that, according to his understanding, her mother still lives in Oakland. She had been employed as artist's model at the Hopkins Art Institute and at other places, Sterling said. He said she had done much typing for him.

SHOT FOUR TIMES.

Baratti was shot three times, twice through the right temple and once through the right hand. Detectives are convinced that he did not commit suicide and point to the absence of powder burns near the bullet wounds in support of their theory that he was murdered. The police have been informed that Mrs. Baratti's real name prior to her marriage, was Grace Cheney, that she graduated from an Oakland business college in 1901.

Mrs. Baratti's attitude on being cross-examined by Chief of Detectives Duncan Mathewson was non-committal and belligerent. Her reply to most questions was, "I don't care to answer" and "It's none of your business."

Mrs. Baratti gave her age as 39, and said she married Baratti last Christmas eve.

Fingerprints found on the revolver which was reposing beside the body may lead to the identification of the slayer, the police believe.

Girl Takes Drinks;

Diamonds Stolen

Miss Helen McDonald, 4130 San Pablo avenue, reported to the police yesterday that she was robbed of two diamond rings valued at $2000. About 4 o'clock yesterday morning she went in a restaurant on Twenty-second near Grove street. While in the place she met two young women who are in employment in a dance hall. She told the officers that she had several drinks while they were eating. They left the restaurant together and she went to 662 Twenty-second street where they met a man, who was a friend of one of the girls. Miss McDonald was unable to tell just what happened on second street. The next thing that she remembers is the loss of her two rings.

Accused Slaver

MRS. GRACE BARATTI, whose preliminary hearing on a charge of murdering her husband, a musician and song writer, in San Francisco Saturday night, began today.

WILMOT, FORMER DRY AGENT, BACK TO FACE COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Roy Wilmot, indicted prohibition agent on trial in United States district court, was on hand today when his trial was resumed despite rumors that he was a fugitive.

At the same time the government began the introduction of evidence tending to show that perjury had been committed during the progress of the trial.

The story was given out today that Wilmot had been intercepted at San Jose by Captain Charles Goff and brought into court. He was not required to be on hand, however, until 10 a. m. and could not be considered a fugitive until he had failed to appear.

The alleged perjury was brought out by Mrs. H. Scott, wife of Stanley Scott of Fresno, a salesman. She made statements to United States attorney Saturday and yesterday to the effect that she had testified wrongly when on the stand.

Her testimony last week was that on July 29, the day Wilmot is alleged to have received a bribe of $100 from J. J. Colbourn, one of the proprietors of the Alcazar Drug Store, she and Mrs. Fred Wilmot were in a Sedan car which she had hired at Fresno.

Today she denied that she had ever hired a Sedan and said that November 27 she had fixed up a $50 receipt showing the transaction at the best of Wilmot.

Mrs. Scott testified that she did not know what she was doing when she gave Wilmot a receipt for $10, so that he could put it on his expense account and later she says he told her that he would have to have the $50 receipt, showing that she rented an automobile in order to make good on the original receipt that was given him. She said that at no time had Wilmot given her any money.

Fred Wilford of Fresno was the second witness and corroborated Mrs. Scott. The government announced that it had the affidavits of seven witnesses, including Mrs. Scott and Wilford, which were read in court. The others were those of Mrs. Wilford, Casey Thompson, auto salesman of Fresno; E. G. Bradley, garage man of Fresno; Miss Grace Breckenridge, a cashier, and Stanley Scott, husband of Mrs. Hazel Scott.

ISABELLE LOWE HAS GOOD ROLE IN MARJORIAINE

Actress Makes Her Own Play
One of Great Appeal;
Scores as Heroine.

By WOOD SOANES

"Little Miss Marjoraine" by and with Isabelle Lowe had its premiere at the Fulton Theater last night and unless the reception accorded it must be taken as an unworthy and inaccurate barometer it will not be a far distant day before this play will receive a greeting of equal warmth in New York.

Miss Lowe has made of "Little Miss Marjoraine" a play of great appeal and has drawn a delicious creature of many moods for her heroine. In doing so, however, she has not neglected to provide Marjoraine with adequate surroundings and the ensemble is piquant and delightful.

The story of "Little Miss Marjoraine" is set in a small town in Connecticut, where Captain Joseph Tibb has inherited within a garden three people of totally different characters—himself, a woman, and a girl. Tibb has a wife, a Frenchman, and his boyhood friend, a lovely daughter Marjoraine.

In this delightful existence Captain Tibb hopes to keep his daughter secure from the world until she has achieved womanhood, feeling that the lack of contact with worldly things will keep beyond reach of her hand the temptations which he believes led to the downfall of her mother.

CHARACTERS REVEALED.

Thus does the audience meet one of its principal characters—the man who is to be the hero. Tibb is a man of great character, a man who is to be the hero. Tibb is a man of great character, a man who is to be the hero.

As it was found to happen over this same garden wall which was designed to shield her from the world of men, a dashing young naval lieutenant to win the heart of the girl and to leave in his wake an overbearing love, but a trail of trouble. How it all comes how Marjoraine finds her mother, how she finds her sweetheart, all would be spelt in the telling.

Consideration of the play as a technical structure brings up numerous matters, but none so important that they cannot be omitted in the review. The production is a masterpiece of technical skill.

PERFORMANCE APPARENT.

During the first act last night, the audience was introduced to the warehouse. It abounded in verbiage that set the character of Marjoraine and her father, but nowhere in particular with the action of the piece. The motive of Captain Tibb in making a home for his daughter, the reason for his ex-communication with his wife, the building up of sympathy for her, was all passed over too lightly.

With this laborer at its service, the play was a masterpiece of technical skill.

SANITARY, STAR UP OLD TIVOLI, STOPS SHOW AT ORPHEUM

Baritone, With Orchestra,
Gives Half-Hour Extra in Encores.

By WOOD SOANES

Henry Sanitary's ears must have assumed a vermillion hue and burned like sixty yesterday afternoon. If they didn't perform in that fashion it is because there is no truth in the old belief that when you are discussed by absent persons you will be advised of the conversation by the physical condition of your audicular appendages.

Certainly the name of Sanitary could conjure up only unkind thoughts and remarks for the mistresses of the culinary departments whose masters and mistresses in the Sunday dinner get cold while they remained at the Orpheum Theater.

It all happened because Sanitary was caught in the "current" of the Orpheum's "The Tivoli" and as a result the patrons of the Orpheum were left half an hour over time. Sanitary's ears must have assumed a vermillion hue and burned like sixty yesterday afternoon.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

NOT to be outdone by Elsie Janis and her "gals" George McKay, super-clown of vaudeville, is coming to the Orpheum next week with his "mob" and on his coming hangs an "afterpiece."

With his partner Miss Ottilie Arden, McKay will first present his regular sketch "All in Fun" and then will bring forth his mob, represented by Neal Abel, he of the mobile face; Juggling Nelsons and James P. Conlin and Myrtle Glass to participate in an impromptu sketch.

When McKay started this novel bit of addition fun for the audiences in Vancouver last season it created such an impression that he was prevailed upon to introduce it in each Orpheum city on the balance of his route. In order to keep the "mob" together special booking arrangements were made.

NEW COURT HOUSE IMPOSSIBLE FOR TWO YEARS MORE

Bond Issue to Include Hall of Record Prevented Now
By 1915 Ordinance.

By WOOD SOANES

In answer to plans of George Sheldon, representing the Uptown Association, and James Spence, president of the Merchants' Exchange, that the board of supervisors take steps to erect a new court house and hall of records, the board of supervisors today declared they could do nothing without submitting the question to the voters at a special election because of an ordinance to that effect passed by the board Dec. 6, 1915.

The committee representing the civic organizations stated that they were ready to submit petitions to bring the need for the new buildings before the people. It was the sentiment of the board of supervisors that there should be no objection to the citizens' committee, but that no petition could be voted on for two years.

The supervisors told the committee that wanted on them today that they favored a single building and hall of records, but had no site in mind. There would be need for a bond issue of $2,000,000 to provide for the buildings, they said.

Numerous moves were made to bring about the erection of the much-needed structure. Representative citizens have declared that the present buildings are a disgrace to the country. The present court house and hall of records are the oldest buildings in Oakland and county officials have stated time and again that they are inadequate for the proper transaction of the country's business.

Fake Officials
Get Data on Homes

Certainly a "fake" official, representing himself as a member of the school department, is getting data on the homes of the city's children, according to a report to the school department today by J. Fred Anderson, supervisor of attendance, who asserts that the pupils' names and addresses are being obtained in a most unbecoming manner.

The questions fired at residents included such queries as: "Do you own a home?" "Do you own a car?" "Do you own a telephone?" "Do you own a radio?" "Do you own a vacuum cleaner?" "Do you own a washing machine?" "Do you own a refrigerator?" "Do you own a stove?" "Do you own a sink?" "Do you own a bathtub?" "Do you own a toilet?" "Do you own a bed?" "Do you own a chair?" $12 MINIMUM WAGE PLANS GIVEN DENIAL

Mrs. Edson Says That Attacks On Welfare Commission Unfounded.

Denial that the State Industrial Welfare Commission is considering a $12 per week minimum wage for women, is made by Mrs. Katherine Phillips Edson, Executive Commissioner of the Commission, in a statement issued today. Mrs. Edson says that she intends to "clear up the evident misunderstanding that has come about as to the purposes and objects of the Industrial Welfare Commission."

She declares that "the assumption that a department which has been functioning since 1913, and whose three most active commissioners have been members since that time, would drop its standards to anything approaching $12, is absurd on its face."

"Mrs. Edson's statement says: 'Various persons have made statements in the press concerning the present discussion of the minimum wage that are absolutely false and without foundation in fact, the most flagrant being that the Commission is considering a $12 a week minimum wage based upon a $12.34 tentative budget.'

"The standard clothing budget which provides for certain undebatable necessary articles of women's clothing was the quantity budget on which the present $12 minimum wage was fixed. In 1920 these same articles cost $15.48. The agent making the clothing investigation did not determine what articles or what number of articles constituted the minimum wage budget. This has been the Commission's responsibility."

"The incorrect instructions were to find out the present price and quality of these articles. Her report was that these articles could be purchased at a lower cost; that the $12 minimum wage was a larger choice for selection."

"The assumption that a department which has been functioning since 1913 and whose three most active commissioners have been members since that time, would drop its standards to anything approaching $12, is absurd on its face, especially in view of the fact that nothing brought to the Commission by its investigations showed any such reduction in the cost of living. In place of representing the Industrial Welfare Commission as the friends of the working women, certain leaders of organized labor have carried on a campaign of willful misrepresentation and vilification to discredit our agents and our work."

Mrs. Edson points out that as the result of a $12.34 minimum wage, the standard of women's pay has been raised so that 61 per cent of the women receive $17 per week and over and says:

"The Industrial Welfare Commission will continue to do its sworn duty to the working women of this state and to provide a minimum wage based upon the present cost of living, whatever it may be."

HOW TO PREPARE YOUR FEET TODAY

Conducted by The Public Health Officer of Alameda County

SHOES FOR COMFORT.

Man's feet, adapted to barefoot use, are subject to special trouble when shoes are worn. Most people wear shoes too tight, nearly all women do. Too loose a shoe is better than too tight a one, but nevertheless undesirable.

If your feet tire and ache under the arch on the back of the foot, seem to roll over inward and look flat, ask yourself if you are sacrificing comfort, poise and happiness for foolish fashion.

A. High heels throw body out of poise.

This causes:

1. Poor posture.
(a) Backache.
(b) Head down.
(c) Hollow back.

2. Poor health.
(a) Backache.
(b) Headache.
(c) Constipation.
(d) Pelvic disorder.
(e) Indigestion.

3. High heels and pointed toes are responsible for:

1. Corns.
2. Ingrowing toenail.
3. Enlarged big toe joint.
4. Falling arches.

5. Flat feet.
6. High heels and pointed toes make graceful carriage impossible.

7. High heels and pointed toes tend to produce a walk with toes pointing outward instead of straight ahead.

8. This causes:

1. Loss of one inch in walking distance which means loss of time and energy.

2. Knock knees and foot trouble.

3. When buying shoes demand:

1. A straight inner line from heel to toe.

2. Room for toes, no crowding.

3. Sufficient length, point of great toe at broadest point of sole.

4. Fit fairly close under the arch and at the heel.

5. Flexible shank, allowing use of muscles.

6. Low cut, permitting free action of muscles.

7. Leather permeable to air; avoid heavy patent leather for long periods.

8. Questions on health problems may be sent to the Health Officer, Oakland TRIBUNE.

DIVORCE DECREE DENIED ATTORNEY VICTOR A. DUNN

Judge Quinn Refers Case Back to Commissioner Crowell.

A decree of divorce was denied today to Attorney Victor A. Dunn, prominent Oakland lawyer, who recently sued his wife, Lola C. Dunn, for divorce, alleging cruelty.

Superior Judge Quinn, in whose court the suit came up, sent the action back to Court Commissioner Clarence Crowell, stating that the testimony was insufficient to warrant a divorce.

Every effort was made by Dunn at the time the suit was filed to keep the action a secret. The original papers were filed under the name of "W. A. Dunn against L. C. Dunn." Dunn then filed an amended complaint, correcting the names and had the case referred to the court commissioner. The identity of the parties was discovered through the filing of a property settlement.

Dunn, who states that he resides at the Owen apartments, testified that he was married in Nashville, Tenn., January 12, 1910, and that the separation occurred August 1, 1922. The custody of a daughter, Arthur, 10 years old, was given to the mother, Lola C. Dunn, and under the property settlement that he would pay $10 a month for her support. He testified that his wife was possessed of property, given her by the terms of the settlement, which brings her a monthly income of $100 and $150.

One of the chief differences between the couple, according to Dunn's testimony, was that he desired to study. He took up a course on "the science of being," and might have taken to his home life wife unable to find his books and papers, and although he searched for them he was unable to find them until a period of ten days had elapsed.

Dunn told an auto trip to the country, Mrs. Dunn and G. W. Smith, a family friend, being the only passengers. He said he was telling Smith about a slander suit he had won and that his most bitter point was that he had been told that he was a liar.

Dunn said that the jury he told from San Francisco's "Taming of the Shrew" as follows:

"I am ashamed that women so simple do offer war. When they should kneel for peace, Or seek for rule, supremacy and sway, When they are bound to serve, love and obey."

He said that his wife immediately became intensely angry and told him that she was a woman of war, and that she was a woman of war.

Dunn said that his wife frequently demanded that he do the shopping for the family, and that when he did so she would charge him with extravagance or say that he had brought home was unfit for human consumption.

Mrs. Dunn frequently charged him with staying out at night, and that she would charge him with staying out at night.

Dunn said that as a matter of fact he was only away five or six nights in ten, and only once out of the fifteen times was he out alone, the other times being accompanied by his wife.

On one Christmas the witness said he purchased a nut bowl for his wife, paying $10 for it. He was greatly humiliated, he said, when she told friends that he "got the best of his Christmas" by his present to her only cost $10.

Dunn said that he left home on two occasions intending to separate from his wife, but returned at her solicitation. He alleged that much of the cause of unhappiness lay in the fact that she desired to return to St. Louis to reside while he insisted on living here. He also alleged that his wife was of German extraction and that the difference in nationality was a "primary cause of the incompatibility."

G. W. Smith, 1831 Myrtle street, who characterized himself as a "newspaperman, writer, journalist and correspondent" was the corroborating witness in the case. He testified that he was called by Dunn and also said that Mrs. Dunn was "a very bad woman."

A few verbal bouquets were tossed back and forth between the witness and Dunn when the attorney asked how he, Dunn, the plaintiff in the case, had conducted himself in his home. To which Smith replied:

"Always with the courtesy, kindness and civility becoming a man."

You mean of that the very highest grade of civility and kindness?" asked Dunn.

"Yes, that may be putting it a little strong," replied the witness on the end of an old photograph horn.

The strength of received signals can be increased only by amplification, which necessitates the use of a vacuum tube.

You should receive KFO on 485 meters, unless your set is not as much power on this wave length as on any other.

Yes, iron pyrites and silicon are more sensitive than carborundum.

Best Tractors Hammer Way To Victory

Melrose Merchants Victims Of Slugging Match, Lose By 18-3 Score.

Outlasting the Melrose Merchants nearly two to one and playing errorless ball, the Best Tractors of the C. L. Best Tractors turned in a win yesterday by a score of 18 to 3. The San Leandro delegation did all of their offensive playing in three frames, bunting his off the delivery of Vitek who started, and Mitterwald, who relieved him, in the first, third and fourth innings to sew up the game.

The Tractors took the jump with a lead and a bound in canno the first when they spiked the rubber eight times with the aid of his solid smashes calculated to be sufficient in any man's league to win a ball game.

Not content with this demonstration of hitting prowess the Tractors came back with a second salvo of batters in the third inning that finished the Melrose nine for good. Four hits being converted into seven runs.

Three runs entered in the fourth frame with the aid of two hits. Worn out by this time by circling the bases, the Tractors settled down to a defensive game, figuring an "out" run lead sufficient to put them under the wire winner.

The Tractors bunched their hits in the fourth inning to squeeze a run over, avoiding a shutout and thus encouraged, set out and batted to three more safeties in the sixth to make their final two markers. Mitterwald, the big lead presented, eased up, but saved for those two innings, proved invincible to the losers.

Mattos led the long distance hitters with a home run, while eight doubles were among the bases hits recorded. Matthews getting two, while Olsen, Vargas, Humphries, Foster, McFadden and J. Bill accounted for the others.

SHATTUCKS, CRYSTALS AND DEL MONTE CAFES ARE CLASS A LEADERS

Coast Tire Team Slips Back a Peg When Beaten; Magnavox Noses Out Durants, While Pleasanton Passes Up Grand Chance in National

The first half of the schedule in The Oakland TRIBUNE Midwinter League play was completed yesterday when thirty-two games were played throughout the county. There were a few upsets which caused noticeable changes in several of the races. The Shattuck Avenue Merchants, leading the National Division race in the Class A League, met their first beating of the season at the hands of the Calatone Water club, which scored the only run of the game. However the Shattuck team retains the lead in the division as the Mercantile Trust Bank team of Richmond gave the Pleasanton Merchants a surprise and beating to the tune of 9 to 5. Had the Merchants won they would have been tied with Shattuck for first place. Now the Calatones are in second place and only a half game behind the Shattucks.

The Magnavox team kept up its drive toward the top rung by handily defeating the Durant Motors 4 to 2 beating in a great game at the Oakland Coast League Park. The defeat of the Durants leaves them a full game and a half in the rear of the Del Monte Cafe team which leads the National Division and defeated the Oakland Natives in a tight game at Chevrolet Park. The Magnavox team made it possible for the Best Tractors to step into second place. The "Mags" have a clear title to fourth place and are only a half game behind the league leaders. The Oakland Natives showed all kinds of pepper at Chevrolet Park and made the Del Monte battle to the last out.

The Crystals scored one on a short and one on a long home run. With one out, Devine doubled to left and scored on Mackin's single. Thompson scored on Cardozo's triple. Thompson sent Cardozo over with a sacrifice hit. Murphy replaced Jacobs on the mound for the Crystals and Van Houtte batted for the Washers.

MURPHY SCORES

BIG VICTORY IN L. A. AUTO RACE

Finishes With Tire in Shreds—Hartz Nosed Out For Second.

(Exclusive to The Tribune.)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Jimmy Murphy won the 250-mile championship automobile race held today at the Beverly Hills speedway, completing 200 laps of the one and a fourth mile oval in 2 hours, 10 minutes and 53.10 seconds. Earl Cooper took second place and Harry Hartz finished third.

Cooper was a lap behind, thundering along at 120 miles an hour. A car length ahead, coming out of the turn not 300 yards from the finish line, where Fred Wagner stood with the checkered flag, Hartz attempted a final burst of speed. He skidded, swung around on the track like a ship without a rudder, then down to the safety apron he slid, and with the presence of mind that the speed king is born with, the boy calmly shifted into reverse, and his car backed into the infield rail with a crash.

Little Harlan Fencker, the mechanic, was out of the car before the dust cleared away, and he expressed frankly in an effort to start the stalled motor. In the meantime Cooper had been given the green flag, had passed the back stretch, and flashed into the last turn just as little Harry's motor coughed over. Cooper sailed across the tape less than a car length in the lead, and the electric timing instrument recorded that lead as just one second.

THRILLS COME EARLY.
At the start Cliff Durant and Al Mecher led, followed by Hartz and Milton, who in turn were followed by Murphy and De Paolo.

Klein and Wonderlich were the next, with Elliott and De Palma, Marlon, Devore, Hill, Duray, Thomas and Cooper following in the order named. Eddie Hearne in the Durant special No. 4 bringing up the rear.

Twice when the drivers started the course, each time gathering momentum while holding their positions, then the red flag was dropped, and they shot across the tape like a pack of hungry wolves after their prey. In the middle of the first run Tommy Hill jumped into the lead. Norton soon went to the pits and was through.

On the fifth lap De Palma stopped at the pits, and Benny Hill took second position away from Durant.

Up to the thirteenth lap a terrific pace was set them. Carl Devore came in to the pits, and on the next round Jimmy Murphy took the lead away from Milton. For two laps the yellow Durant held the pace, then Milton again took the lead.

On his twenty-fifth lap Durant passed Frank Elliott, securing a lap lead and still holding fourth place. Three laps later Elliott stopped to change tires, and two laps later Peter De Paolo rolled into his pit and lost a few valuable seconds adjusting his carburetor. Klein in the meantime had rolled up on the Durant and on the thirty-first lap he shot ahead to cut it over his boss, and rolled on after the leaders.

DE PALMA'S BID FAILS.
Tommy Milton slowed down in the back stretch on his thirty-ninth lap and rolled into the pits on a flat tire. He lost 15-25 seconds in making the change, lost his lead, and never regained it.

In his twenty-fourth lap Jerry Wunderlich went to the pits, and his car was out. Ralph De Palma stopped with engine trouble. The pace for the first thirty laps was 115.8 miles an hour. Earl Cooper, who had been almost forgotten back of the pack, rolled ahead of Durant on the twenty-fifth lap, and left the Durant team running in first, third, fourth and sixth position.

On the eightieth lap there was a cloud of smoke, and Cliff Durant rolled around to the pits with his beautiful new racing car on fire. The fire was put out, but the car was too badly damaged to continue.

De Palma rushed into the lead on the 100th lap, but engine trouble pulled him back, and on the 105th lap Murphy again took the lead. He passed Hill on the back stretch in a sensational burst, and ten laps later Klein passed behind Murphy. Hill was third, with Earl Cooper in fourth place. For two laps Klein held his own, and then as the leaders started to ease Harry Hartz in the 120th lap the boy wonder hooked on to Murphy, and the champion could not shake him. Klein tried to pass him and it was then that he grazed hubs, and had a narrow escape. Thus ended Klein's run, and while he was getting his car in a few fractions of a second, Murphy, Hill, Hartz and Cooper rolled 300 yards around the course.

the back turn, Frank Elliott disappeared behind the crowd. Ambulances made for the spot, and by the time they reached there Elliott rolled into his pit with his right rear wheel collapsed. In his 179th lap, when less than half a mile behind the lead, Art Klein rolled into his pit with engine trouble. He lost two laps changing a spark plug, and Cooper went into third place.

When Murphy got the green flag his right front tire was shredded; still, he did not slow down, but crossed the tape the winner.

Hartz got the green flag and came thundering down to the finish, who she took the skid that lost him second place, and Cooper, the popular old veteran, who came back last year at Fresno, made the Durant victory complete.

With the first two places secure, Benny Hill finished fourth, Tommy Milton fifth, Art Klein on the third Durant sixth, Joe Thomas seventh, Frank Elliott eighth, Peter De Paolo ninth, and Eddie Hearne the other Durant, was tenth.

States Must Deal With Ku Klux Klan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Alleged illegal acts attributed to the Ku Klux Klan fall within the police power of the several states, Attorney General Daugherty has informed Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, in reply to an inquiry and the United States has no jurisdiction over such matters. The department of justice had the conduct of the so-called "Ku Klux Klan" before it for more than a year, Daugherty said, but has not been able to find a single case which would bring the organization within the jurisdiction of the federal government.

ACROSS THE OCEAN FRIDAY IS FORE- RUNNER OF FLEET

Five Round-the-World Liners Due in Bay Within the Next Two Months.

When the Laconia arrives in port next Friday on her round-the-world tour, she will be the forerunner of a fleet of five giant trans-Atlantic liners which are to follow through the Golden Gate with only a few days' interval.

The Laconia will be the first Cunard line passenger steamer ever to call at San Francisco bay and she will likewise be the latest passenger steamer to pass through the Golden Gate. She will have 500 passengers from New York aboard and will take on probably a hundred more at this port. The liner will lie over two days and will then proceed to the Hawaiian Islands.

The Laconia will be followed by the Resolute, the Empress of Japan, and the Samaria.

Increased Cotton Shipments to Japan

OSAKA, Japan, Dec. 2.—Cotton shipments to Japan have shown considerable increase and the Japanese cotton mills are getting most of the product from America now. Five or six years ago about 70 per cent of raw cotton was supplied by America. For the twelve months ended July, Japan bought 750,000 bales of American cotton, as compared with 600,000 bales for the year ended July, 1921.

Because of the large crop of apples and other perishable freight on this coast for the United Kingdom, the Royal Star, a refrigerated ship, is to be chartered by the Admiralty to carry apples according to notices received by the Admiralty from the Pacific coast agents for the service.

Lumber Shipments To Atlantic Heavy

The movement of lumber from the North Pacific to the United States Atlantic ports by the eleven months of this year amounts to 1,000,000,000 feet. This exceeds earlier estimates and is approximately 10 per cent more than for the same period of the year ended July, 1921.

Canal Revenues Show Good Gain, Increases Sure

Decreases in Foreign Trade Through Big Ditch Coastwise Trade Grows.

The revenues of the Panama Canal have increased and a bright outlook is shown for the future, according to the annual report of Col. J. V. Morrow, Zone Governor. The increase in the net operating canal revenue, the total for the year being placed at approximately $7,000,000 over the total of the year before, was brought about, the report says, by a material reduction in operating expenses. The report has just been published. The canal zone operations, including mechanical shops, material stores, and fuel oil plants, showed a profit of $2,219,785 against $584,211 the year before, while the Panama Railroad Company showed a loss of $10,701, as compared with a profit of $8,282 in 1921.

WOMEN AID IN PURSUIT OF SLAYER

Police Seek "Red River" John Wesley As Man Who Killed McCarthy; Former Sweethearts Give Evidence

Capture of "Red River" John Wesley, who is being sought as the suspected murderer of Policeman John F. McCarthy, may be effected through the aid of several of the negro's former sweethearts, who have turned against him because he abused them, and who today supplied the police with a mass of significant information.

As a result of this information a warrant charging Wesley with McCarthy's murder is to be sworn out during the day by Eugene McCarthy, a brother of the deceased.

TRACED BY BLOOD.
Through the aid of Wesley's former associates, Inspectors Tom Woods, Tom Gallagher and William B. Kyle have been enabled to establish the fact, they say, that Wesley returned to his room on lower Alice street the day after the shooting, leaving blood stains on the floor; that he attempted to leave town on a freight train, but failed on account of the bullet wound in his left arm received in his alleged scuffle with Policeman McCarthy.

The police declare Wesley has not succeeded in leaving town, but is still somewhere within the police net that has been thrown over the entire Eastbay in the effort to effect his capture.

The former women friends of Wesley, the police said, have also supplied them with information as to his habits and haunts and possible hiding places that may result in his early arrest.

WOMEN AIDS POLICE.
Wesley first came under suspicion in connection with McCarthy's murder when members of the Carle Club, a negro organization at Atlantic and Willow streets, told the police that on the day of the shooting Wesley had been drinking at a urinal in the club's entrance, and had been given $3 by several of the club members as an "insurance" fee. It was said he had departed presumably for the "Chinese town" at 551 Center street where later on the same day the shooting took place.

Learning that the police were looking for Wesley, a woman, who said she had been his "sweetheart," told him because he had beaten her, told the police where he had been living recently. The address was on Alice street, near the Broadway. The police visited the place, and in Wesley's room found bank and fresh bloodstains on the floor.

ROOM NOT ABANDONED.
This circumstance, they declared today, connects Wesley with the murder of Policeman McCarthy, as the latter's assailant is known to have received a bullet wound in the arm at the time of the shooting, and to have been bleeding from the wound when he fled from the scene.

It also indicates, they say, that Wesley, if he is the man wanted, did not leave town immediately after the shooting, as was at first thought, but returned to his room. None of Wesley's effects was disturbed, showing that he had not abandoned his quarters, the police pointed out.

Further evidence that Wesley is still in Oakland was supplied by Inspector Kyle by another former woman friend of Wesley, who said that a negro answering Wesley's description had been seen attempting to board a freight train, but had been unsuccessful owing to what appeared to be an injured left arm.

The city council by resolution today appropriated $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Patrolman John F. McCarthy, and adopted a resolution of condolence over his death.

FINAL RITES ARE SAID FOR MRS. REQUA

Hundreds, From Many Walks of Life, Fill St. Paul's Church For Funeral of California Philanthropist

The funeral of Mrs. Isaac Requa, California pioneer and widely-known philanthropist, was held this morning from St. Paul's Episcopal church. Rev. Alexander Allen, rector, was assisted in conducting the services by Bishop Edward Lamb Parsons, Archbishop Jendey and other well-known clergymen of the bay cities. The full-vested choir gave the hymns which were chosen from the Easter music in symbol of the triumph of life over death.

The selections were "Jesus Lives," "The Spirit is Over," "Jerusalem the Golden." Men who long have been friends of the 52-year-old social leader, attended as pallbearers. They were Walter L. Dean, James K. Moffitt, Frederick E. Magee, Harry East Miller, William F. Bliss, John K. Mackenzie, Granville D. Abbott, W. W. Carthwaite, Clinton Worden, Oscar Sutor.

The church was thronged with sorrowing men and women who have known Mrs. Requa in many walks of life. Pioneers of California and Nevada, who were companions in the Constock days, early social leaders of the cities bordering the bay; those who received bounty from Mrs. Requa's generosity; military men who remembered her kindness during the Spanish-American and World War days. Red Cross workers who did not forget that the first meeting of that organization in California was held in her home, assembled to pay their last tributes to the woman who has been an outstanding figure in the community for more than half a century. Great masses of flowers were laid upon her bier from rich and poor alike.

Women of the Fabiola Hospital Association, with which Mrs. Requa has been identified for more than 40 years in various official capacities, attended the funeral services in a body. They were led by Mrs. J. P. H. Dunn, president.

Following the church ceremonies, committal of the body was made in Mountain View cemetery. Mrs. Requa is survived by a son, Mark Requa; a daughter, Mrs. Oscar P. Long, and several grandchildren. For more than a half century she had resided on a 40-acre estate in Piedmont.

MRS. POWELL TO LECTURE.
Mrs. Dea Powell will give the fourth lecture of her series of lectures at the Y. W. C. A. at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Her subject will be "Our Attitude Towards Money and Systematic Giving." Mrs. Powell is giving these lectures under the general subject of "Christian Stewardship," basing her foundation study on the little book entitled "The Spirit of Service" by Julia Tolman Lee.

Oakland's Music Week To Be for All the People

Oakland is going to have a music week. That much was decided upon at a meeting Saturday evening, at which many of the musical people were present. But it is going to be a music week for the people and not solely for the musicians. The big object of the celebration will be popularizing music in the home and daily life of all people. The "Auditorium" will be used for afternoon and evening gatherings, but the one big feature decided upon was an open air music night, when ten or a dozen of one thousand voices, the mass of the people present, would sing every description of vocal music, such as hymn tunes, classical songs, old-time songs, operatic songs and popular songs.

The celebration, however, will not be confined to Oakland but is to take in the whole of Alameda county. There will be one "Big Berkeley day" and night, one for Alameda and the balance of the county will be distributed so that at various points music evenings will be arranged.

The meeting Saturday night was the outcome of previous gatherings held through the initiative of the Alameda County Federation of Women's Clubs, with other organizations assisting.

The following officers have been appointed, all of whom were present and placed enthusiastic cooperation of the movement: Mrs. Lora Treuler, general chairman, Mrs. L. R. Rosenberg, vice-president, Miss Zanelle Potter, secretary.

Committee chairman: Mrs. Glenn H. Woods, program, Mrs. Charles I. Ayres, Alameda participation, C. Brown, churches, Mme. Gabrielle Woodworth, hotels, Glenn H. Woods, education, G. A. Cummings, advertising and publicity.

The following committee members also accepted their appointments: Josephine Crew Aylwin, Mrs. Floyd J. Collar, on the program committee; Mrs. Louis H. Dyke, William Minium on the finance committee; J. R. Thomas, Alameda music committee.

DATE SET FOR APRIL.

The tentative date set is the last week in April, and the committees will start active work with the new year. A rally will be held in the south room of the Hotel Oakland tomorrow evening, to which

Miss Hyatt says she lost a fifty-week stage contract at $2000 a week which depended on her winning the title as American Venus. My Marriage Problems

Revelations of a Wife

REASON LILLIAN AWAITED KATHERINE.

"Believe me, you are some welcome, Lady, even if you do look almost too disreputable to be permitted in so respectable a domicile as this."

Such was Lillian's characteristic greeting of me when Dicky and I reached home, triumphantly escorting Katie, whom Dicky rushed straight to his mother's room, assuring that the sight of the dependable maid would be the fidgety old invalid's best tonic. Mother, Graham's criticism of Katie is of unbecomingness of her brook, but we all have learned that she is just without the volatile little maid in the house.

"That's a fine welcome," I said with pretended resentment. "To have invidious comments made upon my appearance, instead of thankful remarks as my escape from a fractured skull."

"But that black eye is such a blight," laughed Lillian, one of whose little ways it is never to profess the usual sympathy to an injury or illness—oh, dangerous, and which she cannot help in any way.

"Let there be no one so prompt with necessary aid and comfort. But she deserves any comfort upon her own ailments, or sympathy with them unless she is seriously ill, and I think she judges very one else by her own standard."

I made a very face.

"So I have been accused of frequently being my husband's return driver."

"Let me introduce you to the lady," I said, pointing to the lady on the sofa. "Do not doubt that she is a fed up with comments on it," she said, "so I'll let you off. But as soon as you're satisfied yourself that Junior has his usual complement of duck and arrow, I'll have the anxious glances you're casting toward the upper floor—you're to come to my room and tell me the tale of your adventures. In half an hour, but if you don't finish before—"

MADGE EXPLAINS TO LILLIAN.

"I can tell you all, I'll be honest, melodramatically, in five minutes," and when after removing the dust of my journey, I had only found my way back to Lillian. I fulfilled my promise, for I made my account of everything preceding my arrival at the hotel as sketchy as possible, adhering strictly to the version Dicky had so fully connected for me.

The conclusion was that I was keeping Dicky from Lillian all night of the mysterious foreigner whose attention on the train had annoyed me, made that part of my recital a halting performance. I felt Lillian's keen eyes upon my face, and I wondered if she had any suspicion that I was withholding anything from her.

But whatever she thought, she was to convey, except a merry laugh or two at my description of the scene in the restaurant in which Katie and the little waiter played leading roles. Until I had finished, then she suddenly leaned forward and kissed me on the cheek.

"SHE'S MY ACE—"

"If that blow had happened to me, I would have been so furious, I might not have been so hilarious," she explained. "Then with character, my witness, she changed the subject. 'What frame of mind is Katie in?' she asked. 'Has she still the delicious composure of a woman who has been her, I fancied she had said to me. 'Katie is very much herself again,' I smiled, repeating the girl's comment concerning 'them' possible return."

"I would," Lillian looked thoughtful. "If she could be brought to realize that the cat that man made her take under duress was not binding."

"I doubt it," I answered promptly. "He bound her by all the superstitions she knows, and that's quite a collection."

"He must be a countryman of hers," Lillian commented, darting a glance at me.

"Probably," I returned imperiously. "Have there been any more developments concerning him?"

"None, except that he is getting better altogether, too fast to suit me. If Katherine isn't too tired when she gets here, I'm going to have Dr. Pettit rush her over to the hospital the very next day. We can't afford to waste any time getting a life on the gentleman, especially as you may be very sure there will be some developments from his employers as soon as they get hold of that report the city police department asked for. Of course, they know his description, and they will find him."

"Jack looks as if he had lost his best friend," he said, "He has married her."

death. He was resolved to brazen it through and have the suspense over. If Madhu Guru discovered his duplicity, well and good. He was ready to fight it out.

The Hindu waved it aside and the quarterback thrust it into his pocket as he followed the seer.

The tiny combined dining room and kitchen was decked out with all the conveniences of a more conventional abode. The meal, which was being cooked by Mrs. Snoop on an electric range, consisted of waffles, bacon and eggs and coffee, which gave off an exceedingly savory odor. The table was covered with a white spread and the varnished man sat at a glance that the silver and china were of the best grade.

Mrs. Snoop, in the act of placing cups and saucers, looked up and saw Speed. The sight of this man produced a strange effect upon her. A tinge of white flicked her upper lip and her complexion became yellow, while her mouth took on a sickly cast. Her dull, brown eyes flashed from Speed to Madhu Guru accusingly.

"Don't be frightened, Carrie," he admonished. "This is not the football player, but an estimable gentleman who looks very much like him—the Count, Reginald Montmorency, late of San Quentin penitentiary."

She continued to peer at him over her rimmed spectacles, desisting only when the Swami told her sharply to mind the cooking food.

Speed looked around to find Queen Quist and her mother had entered the room through another door.

"Good morning, Mrs. Quist," saluted the Swami. "And you, Miss Quist, did you have a good night?"

Mrs. Quist smiled ingratiatingly and Queen returned the faintest of smiles in kind. She met Speed's eyes gravely and bowed formally.

"Good morning, Miss," answered Speed, casually.

"This is my mother, Mr. Sargent," she added, presenting Mrs. Quist. "You remember Mr. Sargent, don't you, mother?"

The old lady, who had adjusted her ear trumpet, surveyed Speed's shaven head and inclined her head very slightly, coldly.

"I would not recognize you as the same person," she said.

The eating had been arranged so that Speed was on Queen's left hand and it immediately devolved upon the athlete the task of anticipating the girl's wants.

"We have a very cheerful little haven here for our escaped prisoner," said Madhu Guru, rubbing his hands and beaming from ear to ear. "I cannot go to my own home, another of his guests. 'Would the police state if they could look in on us?'"

Speed scowled, pretending that the subject was disagreeable, but he made no intimation of the exasperation of the Hindu.

"It is as if we were living in another world. We are in touch with all the activities of the San Francisco bay cities and yet another way, we are isolated from them."

"We cannot live like this forever, though," objected Queen. "When will my father's murderer be taken? How can we get the evidence against this Napoleon Knott? This is terrible to be a fugitive from justice, suspect of murder. I cannot go to my own home, another of his guests. 'Would the police state if they could look in on us?'"

"I little dreamed that I would fill the tragic role myself," she said.

The girl was stared so deeply that she could not speak. She lowered her head miserably and toyed with her fork.

"Remember the words of your father," cried the Swami, in a deep voice. "Do not tell tales to be tranquil? Are you of such weak faith that you cannot await the spirit's commands? The way will be shown to you. Your father from his omniscient height beyond the veil knows all, sees all and when the time comes he will bid you to act—Oh, ye of little faith."

Queen looked up and smiled resolutely.

WITCHES & PIRATES STORY DEN

Written by the Kiddies for the Kiddies.

Salute a new Pirate Chieftain, the little Buck Williams, and if you don't eat up his story and ask for more, I don't know a thriller from a sandpile.

PRIZE STORY.

THE CATTLE RUSTLERS.

One time many years ago in a small town on the outskirts of Nevada, there lived a very wealthy rancher, whose name was Jim Wally. It was near branding time, and he had eight range runners working to get the cattle ready for the round-up, and it proved that two of them were working for the ranch next to Jim's. They were helping their boss to rustle Jim's cattle.

Jim's foreman, Buck Williams, had been riding on the range not more than a week before, and as he rode, he saw a bunch of cattle that there was about 1500 calves to be branded, which was more than any one else around that part of the country had. When he rode, he thought he would wait and surprise the boss. At the supper table that night the boss said that his niece, Ruth Cathey, would arrive about branding time, and the rustlers pushed through slowly for Buck, as he was dying to see Ruth, but at last the big day came when they were to brand the calves.

When he rushed into the corral Buck saw that there was only about 500 head of unbranded cattle there. When Buck saw that he told one of the boys to take his place to meet Ruth. Then he hopped on his horse and started for the range but it was clear and he took out of his pocket a spy glass and started to look around. He saw a bunch of smoke rise out of a clump of trees he put his glass away and took like the wind for the spot where the smoke was rising from. When he got near he discovered a camp and a place where he could peer in and when he could he saw six of his men tied to trees, and the other two laughing and talking. They had a lot of new cattle, while they were putting their own brand on Jim's cattle. He looked through his pockets for something he could shine in the dark. He found a tin of shoe polish and a tin of shoe polish. Then he looked down at the ground, and just then he saw something shine in his eyes. He looked at his clock and saw that it was 11:00. He looked at his clock and saw that it was 11:00. He looked at his clock and saw that it was 11:00.

"Come into my den," he invited. "I have an after-dinner cigar. I'll take that newspaper if you don't mind."

Speed had picked up the newspaper, but he now handed it to the Hindu. He had a feeling that he had been duped. Speed could not help but feel that he had been duped. Speed could not help but feel that he had been duped.

"What would the big man do if he made the mistake that he had been duped?" Speed could not help but feel that he had been duped. Speed could not help but feel that he had been duped.

"I would not recognize you as the same person," she said.

Wanted a School Teacher

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"You will remember," said Caleb Price as he gave his attention to the mechanism of a job at pencil which had been presented to him by the Minden School Board, "I am president of the Board and you are the secretary. As a secretary you are all right. But when it comes to the final decisions, the employing and discharging, mine is the authority."

Caleb smiled sweetly on Donald Carey, rancher and secretary of the board. The presidency suited the elder man. It gave him something about which to think and talk and it clothed him, most becomingly he thought, in that authority which is necessary to some men more than material garments. Perhaps he had been a little severe with Donald. He would make amends.

"It is not that I anticipate any disagreement in the matter in hand. The recommendations seem adequate. Will you tell the young lady to enter?"

This was the preliminary to Fanny Price's entrance into a conference she hoped would give her much needed employment. She had applied for this place as school teacher and had a letter which told her to report, a formal letter signed by Caleb Price, and which carried, as an afterthought, the reminder that the school was to open in January.

When she entered the room, she found Caleb Price sitting at a desk, and she saw that he was a man of about 40 years of age, with a high forehead, a large nose, and a small mouth. He was wearing a suit and a tie, and he was looking at her with a serious expression.

"I am sorry," Caleb said, "but we cannot employ you. You will remember the place was advertised upon a personal interview. It is out of the question now. The girl who was to have the job has been found, and she is a young woman of about 20 years of age, with a high forehead, a large nose, and a small mouth. She is wearing a suit and a tie, and she is looking at me with a serious expression."

- A -NEW WOMAN*REGAINS HEALTH IN OAKLAND

November 4, 1922

For many years I suffered with severe pain in my left side, and headache off and on. My blood was impure, and I was frequently troubled with boils and it was very nervous. I tried numerous doctors and all remedies in vain.

My son, who lives in Oakland, urged me to come to Oakland and take a course of the FONG WAN HERB, because some years ago he had been permanently relieved of both stomach and liver trouble by drinking these herbs.

Finally I went to Oakland and had a course of the FONG WAN HERB. In that short time I gained release from all my pain and nervousness. I feel like a new woman and can give thanks to the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT, which is dependable. MRS. IDA BEAGLE.
